Answer Question #9

I desire to serve to assist with ensuring the citizens of this State have judges who are persons of quality and are committed to applying the law to the facts and making unbiased knowledgeable decisions. There are multiple influences on the minds and feelings of the persons who are responsible for making incredibly tough decisions. Improper influences and personal passions and prejudice of any type or kind have no place in the legal decision making process. While I realize that the legal process does not exist in a vacuum, the goal of the judiciary should be to meet the standards of the law and not those of special interest or sympathetic positions. If appointed to the Commission these ideals would drive my desire to find the most qualified individuals to serve in these essential roles.

I feel that I am uniquely qualified for this position based upon my employment background and current legal practice. Aside from being a practicing lawyer I am substantially involved in highway construction firm. This has allowed me to experience the judiciary from the point of an owner of business and as a lawyer representing parties before courts. My practice covers a large geographical area of middle and east Tennessee which provides additional experience that I believe is helpful for such decisions. Lastly, I have had the benefit and pleasure of serving this commission for two years and have found this work extremely rewarding. I feel that we have served our purpose well in our previous submissions to the Governor and have been proud to be a part of the process.

I believe these experiences make me uniquely qualified to bring an eye for finding experienced balanced candidates with unbiased intention to the bench.
